Moved by councillors Jones and Shaw that the receive be requested to interview Mr. A. D. Dickson with reference to the mill by-law, with a view to expediting the business in connection therewith. Ct.

On motion, council adjourned.

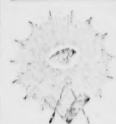

THAMES DRYING UP.

London, Eng., Threatened With a Serious Water Famine.

New York, Aug. 4.—The London correspondent of the Herald says: "London is within sight of a serious water famine, according to the testimony of unbiased experts. It is already rumored that the supply of the east end, which is served from the River Lee, is about to be cut off during the greater part of the day and night, with what consequences to the teeming population on the east end may be easily imagined. The major portion of London's water supply, however, comes from the Thames, which according to the latest report, is drying up."

BY RAIL, BAKER LAKE, WAGGON'S GUIDE

"Perhaps you never heard of a married woman so unattached as I am," he says, "my mistress remains, somewhat better; anyway, I am determined to go to school and learn something. But I cannot do without a maid, and I will take you if you will go."

"That I certainly will, Miss Bannell," said Lucy, emphatically.

"Very well, Colonel Carlyle and I will start for New York tomorrow to make preparations for our trip. See that the trunks are all packed, Lucy."

"I will, ma'am. They shall be ready, never fear."

She rises and looks wistfully at the little white figure in the chair, resting its dimpled chin in the curve of its pink palm, the golden head bent wearily. "Shan't I get something? Indeed, you look ill," she implores.

"Nothing, Lucy. Good-night."

"Good-night, ma'am," Lucy responds, going away rather reluctantly.

Bannell makes no move to retire when Lucy has gone. The little white feet await her, tempting to respond by their daintiness and coquetry, but she does not look toward it; only sits, still as Lucy left her, with her face bowed on her hand.

Colonel Carlyle has gone back to the ballroom again, trying to stave off his headache. He moves among the revellers, yet still trying to bear his part in the gossamer fest, people should whisper that he is unwell, and that he is not one may read the secret of his jealousy and enmity to his beautiful darling.

Curious glances follow him, whispers breathe the story that he has found conceal, every eye notes Bannell's absence.

They shrug their shoulders and tell each other in confidence, that Colonel Carlyle is a perfect blue-board, and has banished his wife from the festal scene because he is jealous of Byron Penn.

And the music and the dancing go on until daylight warns the gay ones to flee from that too true light that reveals their weakness and leanness and glumness.

But the ball is long since over for Bannell. Lucy finds her as she left her, curled up on the great armchair, sleeping like a grievous child, with the trace of tears on her cheek.

CHAPTER XXII.

Long Branch is electrified the next day by the sudden departure of the Carlyles for New York.

Surprise and wonder run high, and the curious ones seek Felise, thinking that she, if any one, must be acquainted with the whys and wherefores.

But Felise is rather reticent on the subject.

"I will tell you all I know," she says, with a pretty affectation of frankness. "That is not much. The Carlyles are going abroad next week, and the colonel is going to put his wife at a convent school in Paris to finish her education and perfect herself in music. He told me that much this morning, and I did not ask him why he proposed taking such a singular step."

"You thought him so crazed with jealousy that he could hardly account for his whims in a rational manner, eh?" inquired one.

"It is monstrous," says another.

"Why, the girl was so finished and elegant in her manners as mortal could be. It was impossible to add another charm to her."

While Byron quoted with enthusiasm.

"To get rid of her, to put her in the convent, to smooth the way, or add another charm to the picture, or with paper light to seek the beautiful eye of Heaven to garish."

Were wasteful and ridiculous excess."

It was a fine day's wonder, and then it was over. People noted Colonel Carlyle in a blue-board, and his lovely young bride a victim and martyr. They said that he was "concluding her from the world because he was too jealous for the light of Heaven to shine upon her."

The young poet indited some charming verses for his favorite, magazine, "The Blue Eyes Across the Sea," and then the gossip began to die out, and now subjects engrossed society's mind.

Mouths rolled on, and the Carlyle affair almost was almost forgotten, or at least but seldom mentioned, even by those who had been the most interested at first.

But Felise was jubilant.

"Mother, you see what I can do," she said, with a wicked laugh. "The honeymoon is barely over, yet I have thrown sand in the old man's eyes and parted him from his darling for two whole years."

"Felise, how did you accomplish it?" Mrs. Arnold inquired, curiously.

"That is my secret," she answered, triumphantly.

"You might share it with me," her mother said, reproachfully. "I never have secrets from my dear."

"I could use a little tact and cunning, mother—just a word dropped in season here and there, yet the seed I sowed has brought forth an abundant harvest. I have driven him heavy and with jealousy and doubt and suspicion. I put that scheme of sending Bannell to school into his mind. And yet so blinded is he by his jealousy that he does not dream of my complicity in the matter, and he will always blame himself for the everlasting alienation that will exist between them."

"You had your revenge sooner than I thought you would. You are a clever girl, Felise," Mrs. Arnold said, admiringly.

"It is but begun," Felise answered, modestly. "If time spares the old man until Bannell comes out of her school I will swing his heart even more deeply than I have already done. I hide my face."

Her mother, cruel and vindictive as she was herself, looked at her in wonder. "Why it seems to me that you have already deeply avenged yourself," she said.

"All has to be done as a woman's secret," Felise exclaimed, repeating her favorite text. "Be patient, mother, and you shall yet see what a woman's secret can do."

"What does Colonel Carlyle propose to do with himself when his wife is banished in her convent?" asked Mrs. Arnold.

"He talks of a trip around the world. He affects to be very fond of travel now. But I could see while he talked to me that he was not serious, but that he would retract it if he could."

"Perhaps he may do so yet."

"No, he will not. He is too proud and too stubborn to do so voluntarily, and I think that Bannell has acquired so much in the plan that he can find no loophole of escape from it. She is as proud as he is; besides, she does not love him, and his unreasonable harshness has rendered her perfectly reckless. She will go to the school, if only to break his heart."

"Perhaps he will die of grief, Felise, or disappointment, and then she will be left a wealthy young widow," cautions Mrs. Arnold.

"No danger," answers Felise, cynically. "Men have died and women have eaten them, but not for love, as the immortal Shakespeare says, neither. I do not anticipate such a contingency. The old defunct has buried two partners and not succeeded to the prize of longevity yet. It is possible he may live to plant the weeping willow over his little white-faced dove."

"Perhaps so. She has never seemed over strong since her illness last summer."

"She has been grieving over the loss of Leslie Dene," Felise answered, carelessly.

She goes to the piano, strikes a few chords, and gets up again, wandering about the room restlessly. There is a marked stiffness and unrest in her every movement, and her eyes flash and roll about in their sockets in a way that troubles her mother.

"Felise, do you sleep well at night?" she inquires, abruptly.

"Why should I not?" the girl asks, turning her head away.

"I do not know; but there is a haughtiness and restlessness about you as if you didn't sleep much. I fancy you are getting nervous and wakeful brooding over this revenge of yours. Your face has grown wan and your eyes quite wild. Take care of yourself or you will lose your beauty."

"Never mind, mother; when we go to Paris next year I will go to one of those wonderful women there and have my face made beautiful forever."

"To Paris? Do you really mean it, Felise? I thought you said the last time we went abroad that you were tired of it and never meant to go again."

"I have changed my mind, mother. That is the privilege of the fair sex, you know."

I suppose you have some motive in this change of mind, Felise?"

"Yes, I have. I want to be on hand when Mrs. Carlyle comes forth from her finishing school. I have a fancy to see her after the passing process is completed."

She laughs wryly to herself as if something pleasant had occurred to her.

"Well, well, have your own way about it, my dear—you always do. But I wish you could forget the Carlyles and only live better. We have everything to make it enjoyable, and if you wanted to marry, why could you not have anyone you wanted with your wealth?"

"I could not, dear," Colonel Carlyle said, though I am sure of him, very much. He is the wealthiest man I know of anywhere."

"You do not need to marry for wealth, my daughter; we have plenty of our own."

Felise did not answer. She was so absorbed in thought. "What Mrs. Arnold could say to her last impression on her mind."

She was wondering in an idea, and as she works and meditates by it only took a trifle more of her thoughts.

CHAPTER XXIII.

"Madam Carlyle, madam, your husband, awaits you in the school."

The tall, beautiful blonde, pausing a moment and surveying her white hands to meet all the time.

"Colonel Carlyle, do you say, madam, she inquires slowly.

The dignified head of the Parisian school bowed in assent, and started away to her pupils' lessons. The letter was slow, faded her face, and turned it to the huge pile and turned to leave the mistress alone.

"You will wish to make some changes in your dress, of course," the lady's sister blandly asserts.

Madam Carlyle gives a glance toward her dress of dark blue cashmere. It is made with almost graceful simplicity, and her husband, grace of form to perfection. The neck and sleeves are finished with frills and fine lace, and there is not an ornament about her except the rags on her tapering fingers. She does not need ornament. She is rarely, perfectly beautiful with her fair flower-face and luxuriant crown of golden hair.

"It is not necessary," she answers. "Colonel Carlyle is perhaps impatient."

There is a deliberate sarcasm in the words, barely perceptible to the trained hearing of the listener. With that simple speech she turns and glides from the room, leaving the lady supine, gazing after her in some surprise.

"They say that we in France make marriages de convenience," she murmurs in French which she will spare our readers, "but surely the Americans must do likewise. That old man and that fair young girl—surely it is the union of winter and summer. After two years' absence she goes to him as coolly as an iceberg."

Meanwhile Mrs. Carlyle has glided down the long hall, opened the door of the reception room with a steady hand, and stepped across the threshold.

"Bannell!" she exclaims a voice, trembling withapture and emotion—"my darling!"

His arms are about her, his lips touch hers.

After a moment she gently disengages herself and looks up in his face. "Colonel Carlyle," she exclaims, in surprise, "how changed you are!"

Few years instead of two seem to have gone over his head.

A look of age and weakness had grown into his face, his erect form has acquired a perceptible stoop, yet a look of disquietude flashes into his eyes at her words.

"It is only the fatigue of travel," he answers quickly. "I have been a great wanderer since we parted, my dear, and the weariness of travel is still upon me. But as soon as I get rested and recuperated I shall look quite like myself again."

"I hope so," she answers, politely. "Pray resume your seat, sir."

He looks at her a little wistfully, as she seats herself some distance from him.

(To be continued.)

Earl Foye Dies From His Injuries.

Brandon, Aug. 4.—The man Earl Foye, who was injured by being run over by a C. P. R. freight train yesterday, died last evening in the hospital.

An attempt has been made by his authorities to communicate with his people in Chatham. The brakemen denies the report that he called out to the man, who, he states, was just falling beneath the wheels when noticed.

ROBBED OF $13,000.

Brussels, Aug. 4.—Representative Levering, of Massachusetts, was robbed at Ostend on Sunday of his pocketbook containing $13,000, notes for 485 sterling, and a number of valuable papers.

A WOMAN'S PLUCK WINS.

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife.

She writes:—"I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid he would discover that I was giving him medicine and the thought unnerved me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He never suspected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly as I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me—a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband, comforts, and everything else dear to a woman's heart, for my husband had told me that whiskey was vile stuff and he was taking a dislike to it. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if he should relapse, as he had done from his promise before. He never has, and I how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases."

We will send our pamphlet free, giving testimonials and all full information with directions how to take or administer Samaria Prescription. Correspondence considered carefully confidential. Address The Samaria Remedy Co., Jordan street, Toronto, Ont.

A $10,000 DAMAGE SUIT.

Kingston, Ont., Aug. 2.—Maria Hastings, widow of the late Albert Edward Hastings, deekhand of the tug Bronson, who met his death by drowning when the tug took fire at Alexandria Bay recently, has entered suit against the Montreal Transportation company for $10,000 damages for the death of her husband.

CASE OF SUICIDE.

Toronto, Aug. 2.—A suit of clothes was found this morning on the banks of Black creek, a tributary of the Humber. In the pockets were found articles showing the clothes to be those of Matthew Black, who worked at a planing mill in the city, and who has been suffering from nervous prostration. It is supposed that deceased committed suicide. The body has not yet been recovered.

Columbus, O., Aug. 2.—C. W. Marks

sold his great power, Joe. Patchen, 2,011, this afternoon to Ed. Limes of Boston for H. Y. Haws of Johnston, Pa. Mr. Marks says the price was $20,000 in cash.

Vancouver, Aug. 1.—The announcement was made by returning Klondykers yesterday on the steamship Clatch that the telegraph line from L-nnet to Dawson had been completed and is in working order. The work was delayed for 36 hours by a mishap and so brings no other late news.

New York, Aug. 1.—Two murderers,

Lewis Pullerson and Michael McDonald, were executed at Sing Sing this morning.

Brantford, Aug. 2.—An electric light wire fell upon the C. P. R. telegraph line here and burned out all wires running east of Toronto.

Found Murdered.

Leadville, Pa., Aug. 6.—Emile Janney, aged 37 years, of Frenchtown, was murdered some time last night between this city and Connet Lake. He had driven a Meadville, Pa. horse and buggy arrived at Connet Lake yesterday containing the corpse of Mr. Janney with a bullet hole in his back. It is supposed that the murderer intended to rob his victim, but the horse, being a spirited one and frightened by the report of the firearm, ran away. The dead man's pockets contained $75, his watch and other personal property.

ASTHMA CAN BE CURED

And Is Being Permanently Cured Daily by Clarke's Cough Compound—Here is What a Hamilton Lady Says

Mrs. Gilbert, 106 Belcher street, Hamilton, writes: "I have suffered from a bad form of asthma for over nine years, and notwithstanding all the doctors could do for me, got worse and worse so that my neighbors looked for my death at any time. I spent money lavishly in the efforts to get rid of it, but all to no purpose. For six weeks at a time I could not get up or down stairs and was in a miserable condition. My daughter, who clerks in a drug store, had heard a good deal of Clarke's Cough Compound, and urged me to try it. I was last year. I paid $2.00 for a bottle, and that is all that I paid. I was worth more than that for every day's improvement. I was able to get up and down stairs, and I was able to do all my work as well as ever, and feel like a new creature. Clarke's Cough Compound has been a blessing to me, and I look upon it as a marvelously remedy. You may use this testimony as you see fit, and I shall be glad to give full particulars to any one inquiring. I gratefully endorse Clarke's Cough Compound."

Sold by all druggists. A free sample will be sent to any person troubled with this disease. Address The Cough Compound Co., 111 Church street, Toronto, Ont.

Cramps and Colic

Always relieved promptly by Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry.

When you are seized with an attack of Cramps or doubled up with Colic, you want a remedy you are sure will give you relief and give it quickly, too.

You don't want an untried something that may help you. You want Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry, which every one knows will positively cure Cramps and Colic quickly. Just a dose or two and you have ease.

But now a word of proof to back up these assertions, and see how long it has been in use. Dr. John Hawke, Colchester, Ont., who writes: "Dr. Fowler's Ext. of Wild Strawberry is a wonderful cure for Diarrhoea, Cramps and pains in the stomach. I was a great sufferer until I gave it a trial, but now I have perfect control."

BLIND, ITCHING PILES

For fifteen years. Physicians failed to cure him. A triumph for DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. W. D. Thornton, Blacksmith, Calgary, N. W. T., states: "For fifteen years I suffered untold agony from blind, itching piles, and can honestly say I have spent about $1,000 trying different so-called cures, and have been under treatment with well-known physicians in Orillia, Peterboro and Lakefield. I had fifteen tumors removed, but obtained no cure. I have suffered more than I can tell, but can now say that, thanks to Dr. Chase's Ointment, I am positively cured, and by one box and a half. I consider Dr. Chase's Ointment worth its weight in gold."

Dr. Chase's Ointment is the only guaranteed cure for piles, and can be absolutely relied upon to cure any case of this torturing disease.

THE GLENCAIRN WINS.

CANADIANS GET THE SEAWANAHKA CUP IN LAKE ST. LOUIS.

At the Beginning of the Contest the Y.acht Grounded and Protest Made Owing to Shallow Water.

Montreal, Aug. 4.—The race for the Seawanhaka Cup, had a most unsatisfactory ending yesterday. The Glencairn and the Constance each had two victories, and this was a tie of war. The previous racing had shown the result depended nearly altogether on the weather, the Constance being undoubtedly superior in anything but a full sail breeze, especially if there was a sea, and the Glencairn certainly faster in a light wind. It was obviously Glencairn weather again to-day for the breeze at noon was about five or six miles an hour and the surface of the lake was placid.

The course was to be a beat of two miles to windward and return three times, making twelve miles, but there was great difficulty in getting such a course. The wind, which started from the southwest, veered around to the south and the fact is it is impossible to lay out a satisfactory beat of two miles in that direction on Lake St. Louis, owing to shoals. After a tedious delay the preparatory signal was finally given at 2.55. Both yachts crossed the line to windward for a few minutes, and then after the first gun was fired at 3.00, both again sailed back of the line. It was a fight for the windward position, but the Glencairn moving faster in the light air, got it and kept it. The Constance swung around into the wind but the Glencairn was on the watch and quickly did the same. The Glencairn, however, moved too close to the line and had to fall back again nearer the Constance and still to windward.

It was seen that something was wrong on board the American boat, for Captain Crane stood up and shouted to the sailing committee on the Diana. The Glencairn meantime drew up and crossed 10 seconds after the starting signal was given at 3.05 o'clock and started off on the starboard tack for the windward buoy. The Constance slowly sailed up to the committee boat and claimed that they had grounded when about 1,000 feet back of the line and, entered a protest against the course. The committee refused to recall the Glencairn, which went on and sailed over the course alone. This had been shortened one and one-half miles each way, making four rounds necessary for twelve miles.

CARRABELLE DESTROYED.

The Town Is Isolated and the Wires Are Still Down.

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 4.—The first train from Carrabelle through the storm-stricken gulf section since Monday reached here this afternoon. The crew and passengers agree that the reports of the destruction wrought by the storm have been extremely moderate. Carrabelle is literally a sea of lumber and sawdust. Her docks and wharves, containing about 400,000 feet of lumber and 50,000 barrels of resin, were quickly swept away. Thirteen of the fourteen large vessels in the bay were blown ashore. These vessels contained several million feet of lumber. Only two or three hulls are left standing in Carrabelle, and one colored woman is reported to be killed by the falling of a house. Citizens of Carrabelle are flocking in every direction for relief. The town is isolated and the wires are still down. The towns of McIntyre and Curtis mill are completely demolished and large interests have been destroyed. The coast resorts, St. Teresa and Lamard, are more seriously wrecked than at first reported and visitors have suffered hardships, although no loss of life is yet known. Fifteen men seen to have been fishing on an island called Dog Island, just before the storm broke, cannot be found.

THE JOCKEY CLUB.

Programme for the Fall Meeting Arranged—$1,800 Hung Up in Purse—Pathmont and Lome.

The fall meeting of the Manitoba Jockey club has been arranged for September 2, 3 and 4, and this fair to be one of the best meets of the season. Purse to the amount of $1,825 have been hung up, and the best horses of the year will compete. The much vexed question as to the superiority of Pathmont or Lome may be settled in the free-for-all on September 4, but as Lome refuses to meet Pathmont on the Winnipeg track there may be some difficulty in negotiating the arrangements. It is to be remembered that in connection with the race between these two rivals in the free-for-all at the Industrial pace of the heats which Pathmont won was much the better, the first two being given in 2.17 1/2, while the two that lome won were nearly two seconds slower. Pathmont has moreover a record of 2.09 1/2, while Lome's record is said not to be less than 2.15. On the other hand Lome's average for the season is fully as high if not higher than Pathmont's. Should these two be matched on September 4 on the Winnipeg track great excitement will be manifested. It is said also that Atter of Chatham, Ont., will again come up to defeat Pathmont himself, as he defeated his time at the last meet.

The following is the programme:

LADIES' DAY.

Grand, cross country steeplechase cup or 150
Three-quarter mile dash, 150
Half-mile heats, open, 150
2.20 trot or pace (2.16 trotters eligible), 200
2.30 trot or pace (2.25 trotters eligible), 200

LABOR DAY.

Free for all, trot or pace, 400
Hurdle race, 150
2.25 trot or pace (2.20 trotters eligible), 200
1.1.8 mile dash, 175
Half mile, pony, heats, 100
The entries will close on August 23rd.

DREYFUS' NEW TRIAL.

An English Journalist Will Testify in the Second Trial of the French Spy.

Remes, Aug. 7.—The leading event of the day was the arrival of the "hero of the Dreyfus affair," Lieutenant Colonel George S. Picquart. Colonel Picquart wore a bowler hat and was attired in a black suit. His train arrived at 7 o'clock this evening, an hour late. A few people, mostly detectives and police officers. As Colonel Picquart entered the carriage, which Maitre Labori, counsel for Dreyfus, has been waiting for him in the station yard, some of the spectators shouted, "Vive Dreyfus!" and "Vive Dreyfus!" These shouts elicited from the officers of "A has Picquart" from the few anti-Dreyfusites present.

The authorities are apparently becoming anxious regarding the maintenance of tranquility in Remes during the trial, owing to the invasion of the town by a crowd of anti-Dreyfusite agitators and heroic measures were taken this evening to insure peace.

Cards of admission were issued this afternoon to representatives of the press, every two foreign correspondents, without exception, receiving one card between them, which means that leading papers of the world outside of France will only be able to be represented every other day. Captain Dreyfus will be conducted to the new court in the Lycée which faces the military prison across the broad avenue de la Gare every morning and return in the evening between a double row of gendarmes. Workmen have been busy fitting up the Salle des Fêtes in the Lycée and the installation of benches and desks is already completed. A large crucifix has been brought from the military chapel and hung behind the seats of the judges, which are on the stage.

The only foreigner cited to appear as a witness in the court martial is Rowland Strong, the English journalist. It looks as though Strong will be the chief witness and the case against Dreyfus will stand or fall with the authenticity of the document, as it was Strong that Esterhazy first confessed to having forged this document. Dismissing that matter Strong said today: "The chief reason why the court martial wish to hear me is because Esterhazy is discredited. It was shown the court that Esterhazy's confession as to having been the author of the document is correct. He told me so in Paris. It is obviously in Esterhazy's hand writing. He began it by tracing Dreyfus's penmanship, but so safe did he consider himself that the greater portion of the document is in his undisguised handwriting. I have many specimens of Esterhazy's hand writing. He has frequently written notes to me. The document was obviously written by the same hand. No reason has been given against France, Santhier, Henry and Esterhazy were in need of small sums, and sold valueless documents to the German embassy. Then the three men thought it necessary to invent Dreyfus the Jew."

To have what we want is riches; to have what other men want is power.

Hamilton, Ont., Aug. 3.—Wm. Pennell, 38 Stone street west, left home a week ago today, his wife not knowing of his whereabouts. This morning his body was found floating in the bay just off Bay View wharf. Pennell, who was a laborer, was a sufferer from rheumatism, and he told Conductor Harper of the street railway, who saw him Sunday night he was tired of life. He was about 45 years of age and a member of the Sons of England. He has no family. It is thought the body was not in the water more than twenty-four hours.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS.

Friday, August 4.

A disastrous storm visited the Florida coast.

Thos. Shannon, postmaster of Pictou, Ont., is dead.

Severe damage was done by storms on the Florida coast.

The U. S. is said to be after the annexation of Hayti.

The striking tailors of Greater New York won their fight.

The Shamrock left Fairlie, Scot., for America yesterday.

The business portion of Minto, N. D., was destroyed by fire.

Bad road exists between sheep and cattle men in Colorado.

The strike of G. T. R. machinists at Port Huron has ended.

A U. S. congressman was robbed of $2000 at Astoria, Oregon.

The Yaqui Indians have murdered many U. S. miners in Arizona.

The German emperor's yacht Meteor again defeated the Britannia.

Lover Vanquisher is the new title of the British ambassador to the U. S.

The employees of fifty five Pennsylvania canneries have gone out on strike.

The first day's shooting in the D. R. A. matches in Winnipeg proved successful.

The British steamer Rothfeld from Seattle was towed to Stormfield, Scotland.

Seventy-five Presbyterian ministers subscribed $18,750 towards the centennial fund.

H. C. McDonald, attorney-general of Prince Edward island, has been appointed judge.

Earl Foye, of Chatham, Ont., died from injuries received while boarding a train in Brandon.

JAMES BAY MUD FLATS.

They Have Been Leased to an English Syndicate for Fifty Years.

Victoria, B. C., Aug. 4.—The ratepayers yesterday adopted the by-law authorizing a fifty year lease of the James Bay mud flats to an English syndicate organized by Henry Croft of this city.

The syndicate proposes to convert the flats into pleasure grounds and an athletic park and in return for the lease they will place a substantial bridge across James Bay. On one side of the bridge, which will be 200 yards long, they will erect kiosks for mercantile purposes, and these will be the main source of revenue.

The Canadian Australian steamers will not in future call at the Fiji Islands as they have for several years, in consideration of the mails subsidy for that purpose.

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 4.—One hundred and thirty miners at the Van Ad mine, Texada Island, are on strike.

The management having reduced their pay from $3.50 to $2 for eight hours work on August 1st. Manager Trent says there is enough ore in the dump to keep the smelter going for three and a half months at least. He decided that the men were not worth the full $3.50 so he cut the wages.

Negroes to Be Excluded.

Hillboro, Tex., Aug. 4.—F. P. Works, president of the state Epworth League, says the southern leaguers contemplate meeting at some southern city to consider the advisability of organizing a southern convention. The principal object of this convention will be to exclude the negro from participation in international league meetings. At Toronto and Indianapolis the negro was very much in evidence and it is the wish to hereafter avoid any appearance of a social equality.

Police Are Worried.

San Francisco, Aug. 4.—In view of the decision of the supreme court, granting Albert Hoff, the murderer of Mrs. P. A. Clute, a new trial, on the ground that the judges charge to jury was improper the police are worried.

Mr. Hoff may secure a new trial for the murder of Mrs. John P. Dunning, of Dover, Del., on the same grounds. It is alleged that in both these cases, the judge delivered practically the same charge.

Gen. Faraja on Trial.

Madrid, Aug. 4.—Counsel for General Faraja read telegrams at yesterday's sitting of the court-martial, that were exchanged with the commander-in-chief, showing that Guantnamo had only capitulated on orders from a superior officer and that the town was without other provisions or means of defence. The other officers advanced a similar defence. The judgment of the court martial was deferred.

Sheepmen and Cattlemen.

Chester, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Northwestern Ontario is the scene of a war between the sheep and cattlemen. On Monday last four horsemen carefully disguised, rode into some large folds of sheep which were being grazed along Two Mile Creek, about twenty-four miles from Sterling. The men were well armed and shot and killed 150 sheep and badly crippled 25 more. It is reported also that two sheep herders were badly beaten, but this cannot be verified.

Niagara Falls N. Y., Aug. 4.—An unknown man went over the American Falls tonight about 8 o'clock. The tragedy was witnessed by a number of reputable persons, who report he called for help several times, placed his hands over his eyes, and disappeared over the brink.

DREA CONFLAGRATION.

WHITE PASS RAILWAY BUILDINGS ALSO BURNED.

Rich Gravel Deposits Near Horsely Creek, Cariboo—Many New Buildings in Vancouver.

Vancouver, Aug. 3.—Drea, the Klondike outport, which was almost ruined by its rival Skagway, was in danger of being burned out last Friday night when the steamer Orizaba left. R. P. McLennan, who came in yesterday by steamer, says that when he left there was almost a continuous circle of fire along the water front of Drea. The United States barracks, where the colored troops were stationed, as well as the wharf nearby, were burned, and the fire spread into other buildings and towards the town. The whole place was in danger of going up in smoke. Mr. McLennan cannot estimate the damage, but when the steamer passed by it would likely have amounted to $20,000. On the day before Mr. McLennan saw another fire, near the summit on line with the White Pass railway. The station house, water tank and other buildings caught from a bush fire and a good deal of damage was done. Mr. McLennan left Dawson June 20th. He says that the banks at Dawson estimate the output at from $15,000,000 to $20,000,000 and a good business is being done.

Capt. John Irving says Orizaba had $50,000 worth of Atlin gold aboard. He thinks the output from the district will this year amount to nearly $2,000,000 and next year it will be much larger.

J. G. Campbell, who has just returned from a bicycle tour through Golden Cariboo, is credited with saying that the Horsely miners are excited over a discovery of very rich gravel on hydraulic property owned by a company of which Ward and Shaw are the principal proprietors. It is near Horsely Creek and connects with other well known properties in the section. When the hydraulic machinery is in operation it is the custom of managers to take samples and analyze the gravel and it was in doing this that the find was made. Several pans of dirt were taken out that were said on good authority to go between $500 and $600 to the ton. The property is looking better from a general standpoint than it has for a long time. Whether the find is merely a pocket remains to be proven.

The private car Dauphin left for the east this afternoon having on board Mrs. D. D. Mann, Master Mann, Miss Williams and Mr. William Mackenzie. The latter may leave the party at Winnipeg, but the others will go through to Montreal.

ACCIDENT AT BRANDON.

While Attempting to Board a Train Earl Foye Was Seriously Injured.

Brandon, Aug. 3.—A shocking accident occurred here tonight, as a result of which Earl Foye, a young man twenty-five years of age, was carried to the hospital with his right leg crushed to a pulp from the knee down, and with other injuries that will probably prove fatal. The young fellow was beating

THURSDAY, AUG. 10, 1899.

Surplus of $5,200,000.

Ottawa, Aug. 6.—Full returns of the revenue and expenditure for the financial year ending June 30th last have not been all accounted for, but they will be in a very few days, when it will be shown that the surplus will be considerably larger than Mr. Fielding predicted in his budget speech. From the figures already to hand it is plain that there will be an excess of revenue over expenditure of over $5,000,000. During the month of July revenue to the extent of $1,203,811, which was outstanding for the past fiscal year, has been received, while an expenditure of $5,530,000 was made on payment of accounts for the same period. There is about half a million dollars of revenue to hand from the Klondike which has not been taken into account, and there are expenditures which have not reached the finance department. The revenue so far for the year is $46,001,936 and expenditure $39,812,672, leaving a surplus of $6,772,499, which, however, will be reduced to about $5,200,000 when all accounts are closed. This applies to the ordinary revenue. The expenditure for the year so far is about $2,500,000 greater than for 1898. The expenditure in capital account is $8,819,000 or nearly $3,500,000 over the preceding year. The cause of the increased expenditure has been frequently explained, and is due to the deepening of the canal to the Crow's Nest Pass railway, and other public works, necessary for the progress and development of the country.

Death of Sir James Edgar

On the death of Sir James Edgar, Speaker of the House of Commons, at his home in Toronto, July 31st, The Globe writes:—

For two or three years the health of Sir James Edgar had occasioned grave anxiety to his family and to his friends. But his brave heart, his buoyant temperament and his fine courage bore him undiminished through long months of suffering and kept his head high and his figure erect in the very face of death. No one but his mother, no one but the shade of his father, no one but the family circle he was strong and kept the sorrow and the shadow from his home and the city. He lived contented and cheerful as he lay, his mind fortified by disease, his body held up by the cheerful voice of his family and the cheerful face of his friends. And when death came it surprised him and his family, but a few well known, and a desperate fight in a desperate exigency. It was fated, despite the very best that medical skill could do, that he should not rise again, and that whilst yet on this side of three score years, his sun should set, his family be plunged into grief, and his country called to mourn the loss of a vigilant, single-minded and able public servant.

A scholarly man, informed and inspired by a keen literary taste, he loved books, his reading was wide and varied; he was at home with the poets and dipped deep into history. His home life was ideal. There one found always a sensitive family affection and a rare social culture that touched and impressed all who were privileged to come within the gracious influence. The country's loss is great; the home loss we may not venture to estimate; it is yet too fresh and keen for any outside hand to intrude, even with the sympathy that will this morning fill so many hearts.

The Galician Colonies.

Colonization Agent Speers returned on Wednesday from the Galician Colonies at Shoal Lake and Strathclair, where the colonies have now been permanently settled. The colony at Shoal Lake, says Mr. Speers, has now a herd of 125 cows; the men are all out at work on their farms and Galician labor is greatly in demand as the Canadian laborer is a scarce article. The girls of the settlement are all employed on the neighboring farms and also working in the towns. The 200 families in the colony are well satisfied with their progress and expect to be prosperous farmers by next year.

Mr. Speers has collected some excellent samples of grain, which will be sent to the Omaha exposition and also to Paris. Among the growers are Mr. White, of Headingly, formerly of Carberry; Mr. A. Michel, of Brandon; Mr. Johnston, of Vineland. The Union Bank of Canada has collected some very fine wheat which will also be included in the sample sent to Omaha. Mr. Speers expects to go to Fish Creek on his next trip and from there to Yorkton.

Grasshopper Pest in the Middle States.

Lincol, Neb., Aug. 3.—In Western Nebraska, Kansas and Eastern Colorado just now the grasshopper plague is the worst on record for fifteen years. Crops are being devastated and the farmers are worried by the inroads of this pest. According to the reports received by the state horticultural department this morning the grasshoppers are doing so much damage that the entomologists of the three states have decided to hold meetings to devise a plan to combat them.

Wiped From the Map.

Tallahassee, Fla., Aug. 3.—The first train from Carrabelle through the storm-stricken gulf section since Monday reached here this afternoon. The crew and passengers agree that the reports of the destruction wrought by the storm have been extremely moderate. Carrabelle is literally wiped from the map. Her docks and wharves, containing about 400,000 feet of lumber and 50,000 barrels of resin, were quickly swept away. Thirteen of the fourteen large vessels in the bay were blown ashore. These vessels contained several million feet of lumber. Only two or three huts are left standing in Carrabelle, and one colored woman is reported to be killed by the falling of a house. Citizens of Carrabelle are flocking in every direction for relief. The town is isolated and the wind is still down. The towns of McIntyre and Curtis are completely demolished and large interests have been destroyed. The coast resorts, St. Ignace and Laura, are more seriously wrecked than at first reported and visitors have suffered hardships, although no loss of life is yet known. Fifteen men are reported to have been killed on an island called Dog Island, just before the storm broke, cannot be found after the fact.

Balgonie.

From our own correspondent.

We had a couple of frosty nights last week, but no serious damage was done.

Mr. A. D. Dalgleish is having the collar dug for his new house. The contract for building it has been given to Mr. J. R. Agar.

J. B. Hawkes, M. L. A., met with rather a nasty accident while driving a mower on his farm last week. The guards caught on a fast stone which caused the mower to tilt and upset him in front of the knife, his wrist striking the points of a couple of guards. If he had not had perfect control of his horses the accident might have been much more serious.

The many friends of Willie J. Fisher will be sorry to hear of his accident at Yellowgrass. While cutting poles in a bluff his axe caught a limb, which caused it to come down on his foot with such force as to split it open and to cut off one toe. It will be some time before he will be able to be about.

Mrs. Wase, of Vernon, is the guest of Mrs. R. Matchett.

Drs. J. and J. P. Croumer passed through on Sunday on their way to Qu'Appelle.

Messrs. Moorehead, Schultz, representing the Manitoba Hail Insurance Co., have been working this section of country pretty thoroughly.

Mr. J. Wilson, teacher near Wolseley, and Mrs. Wilson, were the guests of Mr. D. A. Kingsbury last week. They were returning from a trip to Laramie.

The hotel is well filled these times, a great many agents being busy canvassing the district.

We congratulate the Rev. W. G. Martin, B. D., on his success in obtaining his degree of M. A.

A much needed shower fell on Sunday night and another to-day. Crops look well and promise an abundant harvest.

Mr. J. R. Agar has about completed repairs on the church at St. Joseph's colony.

Whitewood.

There is at present living on the Crooked Lake reserve a Salteaux Indian named Acoose who in his youth was famed among the tribes as a fleet runner and mighty hunter. The following remarkable story is told of him by the Indians of the reserve. Acoose had been down at Moose Mountain on the annual fall hunt, but for some reason or other had not been very successful, and his supply of ammunition was nearly exhausted when he started three splendid moose. He followed them northward for some distance before obtaining a shot at them, and when he did get within range he fired away the few bullets which he had left without succeeding in hitting any of them. His ammunition was done, and to lose sight of the game was to lose it altogether, so he conceived the plan of herding the moose up to Crooked Lake where he could renew his supply. Accordingly by running round them and herding them off, he got them started in the right direction, and for some days he followed them with the most tireless persistence, showing himself when he wished them to take any special direction. He eventually got them on to the reserve in the vicinity of the agency, left them in a bluff, went to the Hudson's Bay store, bought a good supply of powder and ball and returned and killed the three of them. The distance which the game was driven was from sixty to eighty miles, and when it is taken into consideration that he had to be close on the tracks of the moose all the time, the performance would be hard to beat.

The Rev. J. Williams while driving to Grandview last Saturday discovered a small prairie fire burning near the track, apparently caused by the engine of the local express, which had passed west shortly before. With the help of a passerby the fire was extinguished before it had spread very far.—Herald.

Wolseley.

The Wolseley agricultural society hold their annual exhibition on Tuesday, October 10th. Their prize list in next book form will be ready for distribution in a few days.

The Wolseley Milling Company is enlarging its engine and boiler room preparatory to putting in an engine of much greater horse power. This Company is determined to maintain its reputation as one of the best mills in the Territories.

Last Friday night the thermometer took a sudden dip, and went dangerously near the freezing point. However only at one point has any frost been reported, and that only affected the most tender vegetables. From every quarter come reports of the excellent appearance of the crops at present, the light soils and the stubble crops having been greatly benefited by this week's showers. Personally we have never seen in this country better prospects.

LOCAL NEWS

There is a rumor of two more weddings taking place in town soon.

Moved Back.

The workmen having practically finished Mr. B. Harvey's new house and made it ready for occupancy, Mr. Harvey and family moved in this week.

Barley.

A sample of very fine barley grown on the farm of Mr. J. Howden, was brought to our office on Monday. The heads measured from four and a half to five inches in length, and the grains were large and plump.

See L. J. Longpre the barber for bicycle repairing.

Methodist Pulpit.

Mr. Endicott, brother of the famous missionary of that name in China occupied the pulpit of the Methodist church last Sunday evening, and preached a rousing sermon to a large congregation. Mr. Endicott is studying for the ministry.

Methodist Notes.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered in the Methodist church next Sunday evening at the close of the regular service.

A quarterly meeting will be held in the church next Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mr. Endicott is expected to occupy the pulpit a week from Sunday evening.

Chosen Friends.

Mr. Endicott, who is stopping with Rev. James Hoskins this week, is trying to organize a branch of the Canadian Order of Chosen Friends in town. This is a purely Canadian Order, having been first organized March 28th 1887, in Ontario. Branches are being gradually formed throughout the Dominion, there being now organized about 500, with a total membership of over 17,000. Both sexes are accepted between the ages of 18 and 51 years.

The Picnic.

The Presbyterian Sunday School picnic had just got nicely started on Tuesday afternoon when the rain came down in torrents, and in a very short time had nearly every person there, and there was a large crowd soaked through. It had threatened rain all afternoon, but it was hoped it would pass over so all remained on the ground till two o'clock to avoid wetting. Many who could not attend seemed to find it a picnic watching those who did go, returning like a lot of drowned rats, as they remarked. The rain was a warm one, so no bad effects could result, but it was too bad after all the preparations had been made to have the day spoiled by the rain. It was postponed till Wednesday afternoon, when the rest of the race were run on the base ball ground and the tea was served in the emigrant sheds. There was not many in from the country the second day, but there was a good crowd altogether, and they seemed to enjoy themselves.

The Crops.

Taking the wheat crop as a whole it would be hard to imagine it looking better than it does this year. Farmers have reason to feel glad over the appearance of the wheat crop, and hopeful for the weather to mature and harvest it. Some feel a little discouraged over the frost of last Friday; but with the exception of the wheat on low ground and perhaps a streak here and there on higher ground, we do not believe there is a much damaged crop. There are a few scattered farmers who will suffer from that night's frost; but the country is safe enough yet, and if we escape frost for a few weeks more, the crop will be larger and better than ever. Certainly it promises to be a better sample than usual. Reports from Manitoba and different parts of the Territories are very cheering. All points report good crops. The exceedingly heavy rains of Tuesday and Wednesday should make the grain fill out perfectly, and if followed by a warm spell the grain will soon ripen ready for cutting. The rain would, of course, spoil hay only partially cured.
